

【Shenzhen Metro Line 4】 Photogenic spots in Futian From dawn to dusk: Urban charms of Futian!

The Shenzhen Museum of Contemporary Art and Urban Planning is an exhibition gallery that integrates multiple disciplines such as art, planning, architecture and design into one. It houses cutting-edge collections of contemporary art where artists' creativity and imagination can be appreciated, and showcases the detailed and professional urban planning of Shenzhen to provide an insight into its development and future vision.

As a heaven for shutterbugs, the museum gives off a time-travelling vibe with concrete façade, geometric lines constructed by steel reinforcing bars, stainless steel, glass and other materials, coupled with an interplay of light and shadow. A metal-themed décor also fills the interiors with a highly futuristic impression. Either the unique and glamorous design or the spectacular exhibitions will certainly keep your camera busy!

Friendly reminder: Admission to the museum is free
Opening hours: From 10:30 to 17:30 by prior appointment on the WeChat official account; closed on Sundays.

Do you want to experience the charm of Shenzhen after sunset? To enjoy the view of its lit-up cityscape, and to immerse in a musical blend of technology and art, you should not miss the light show jointly performed by 43 skyscrapers - a 270-degree panoramic viewing experience that employs searchlights, lasers and LED screens to present an ever-changing chorus of light. Together with Chinese classical music, it transforms the skyline into an outdoor audio-visual feast for senses.

The light show consists of two parts. The nightly regular show conveys different themes and effects statically and dynamically, while the special performance that only takes place during weekends and special occasions features a dynamic variation simultaneously controlled by music, as well as water curtains, fountains and other elements for a more interactive and enjoyable performance.

The following sites are recommended for a first-hand experience of the breath-taking light show:

- 1) Lianhuashan Park
- 2) Shenzhen Civic Center Square

Please make an appointment and present the appointment code at admission. Simply subscribe the Futian Central District's WeChat Official Account for reservation.

- Regular Show: Every evening from 19:00 to 22:00
- Special Show: Friday, Saturday, or statutory holiday and its preceding day (except Ching Ming Festival) at 19:00, 20:00 and 21:00
