

【Shenzhen】 Fairy Lake Botanical Garden

Explore the famous photogenic cactus garden of an urban oasis!

Want to explore countryside outside Hong Kong? You can spend a day at the nearby Fairy Lake Botanical Garden, an urban oasis in Shenzhen! Enjoy a relaxing moment in nature, with a fantastic view of the garden, lakes, and mountains.

Rated as a national 4A-level tourist attraction, the 546-hectare Fairy Lake Botanical Garden integrates various experiences, such as plant species collections, botanical research, scientific education, travel and recreation. It is also one of the important bases for scientific research on ornamental plants in China. The garden is rich in flora, with about 12,000 species of plants in total.

The garden has six main scenic spots featuring lake, temple, desert, fossil forest and plants.-The most photogenic spot is the Cacti and Succulent Garden inside the America Hall, where you can find many species of cacti in a transparent hemispherical greenhouse.

The famous Hongfa Temple is also located in the garden. Inside the temple are the Hall of Celestial Kings, the Grand Buddha Hall and the Depository of Buddhist Sutra. This large and magnificent temple is always crowded with worshippers and visitors.
