

【Shenzhen】 Shenzhen Concert Hall

Dazzling diamond in bustling city!

Designed by renowned architect Arata Isozaki, a post-modern giant in Japanese aesthetics, the Shenzhen Concert Hall features a unique blend of traditional culture and modern life. In addition to the use of glass-based building materials in various shapes to create a sense of modernism, a five-colour scheme of “yellow, red, green, white and black” symbolising the five-element philosophy in traditional Chinese culture can be observed on its exterior. By integrating lighting design into his architectural aesthetics, the architect turns the concert hall into a shining diamond in the bustling city at night — a truly sparkling spectacle presented by the reflection of internal light on the glass curtain walls.

Every Saturday and Sunday, the Shenzhen Concert Hall holds free concerts for public enjoyment. Simply plan your weekend visit there to bring a feast to your eyes and ears!
