

【Shenzhen】 UpperHills
A hub of renowned eateries and French department store!

Dedicated to a sophisticated and cosy urban lifestyle, UpperHills has become the next foothold for various catering giants offering a myriad of choices from brunch to afternoon tea and dinner. Café Kitsuné, a Paris light luxury brand established by Maison Kitsuné, has set foot in Paris, London and Shanghai, and finally floor L3, Galeries Lafayette in UpperHills after taking trend-lovers across the world by storm – perfect for a coffee break after an energy draining shopping spree! Maison (the French word for “house”) Kitsuné (the Japanese word for “fox”) is a multi-faceted France-meets-Japan brand which connects fashion to lifestyle and involves in the fields of fashion, music, coffee and more. At Café Kitsuné in UpperHills, the interior décor perfectly presents the modern, heart-warming and simplistic beauty of French design, infusing a Parisian sense of romance into the art of coffee. Whether it’s a cup of latte or butter cookie – you will find details as adorable as the Kitsuné’s signature logo everywhere in the shop. Shop T3006, L3

“Mercado Lesa”, a highly recommended Thai hotpot restaurant that pioneered the hot and sour Tom Yum Kung hotpot in Shenzhen. Made with fresh and natural spices imported from Northern Thailand without any artificial flavours or acidulants, the Tom Yum Kung coconut milk chicken soup pot is a must-try at the restaurant. The soup is sour, spicy and appetising, making it suitable as a base for seafood hotpot. As for the hotpot ingredients, we recommend the tender Thai beef and fresh prawns. The atmosphere of the restaurant is relaxing, giving it a Southeast Asian tropical holiday feel. Shop T3063, L3

By making a grand debut in UpperHills as well as southern China, Galeries Lafayette has gained wide popularity across the fashion world and become another must-go in the mall. As a trendsetter for over 130 years, the legendary Galeries Lafayette is home to almost every single fashion brand worldwide, filling the mall with French high-end luxury fashion. The Parisian department store spreads over two floors, with floor L2 divided into zones, such as EDIT FASHION, EDIT BEAUTY and EDIT GIFTING, designated for women’s clothing, cosmetics and lifestyle products. This section houses more than 100 brands, including many niche light luxury labels, such as Self-portrait, MM6 and Thom Browne; and a number of French perfume counters from MEMO, BON PARFUMEUR and MATIERE premiere.

	On the other hand, floor L3 features gender-neutral fashion and sports footwear. Boasting a spatial design of minimalism and elegance, this area has quite a few photogenic spots, including a wall full of posters of Galeries Lafayette in Paris. Snap a photo and take a break for a chic and chill shopping experience! Shop L2-L3
